ZURICH, Feb. 21.—A score of United States consuls and government agents with their families reached Zurich last night after having spent a more or less anxious week awaiting permission to leave Germany. The arrivals consisted of 45 persons who had gradually assembled in Munich from which town they departed yesterday morning after the bulk of their baggage and papers had been examined.

The party arrived in two sections, the first warmly praising their treatment by the Germans, and the second containing members who complained bitterly over the enforced delay in their departure and also of having had to leave behind papers which the German authorities desired to submit to a more rigid censorship.

MASS DEPORTATION OF

AMSTERDAM, Feb. 21.—The Berlin Vorwarts says that a mass deportation of Berlin children to the country is planned. It is believed this step will relieve the food difficulty in the city.

STRIKE OF 17,000 WORKERS AT KRUPP GUN PLANT.

AMSTERDAM, Feb. 21.—The frontier correspondent of the Telegraf says a strike in the Krupp works at Essen involving 17,000 workmen has been in progress for a fortnight. The men, the correspondent declares, are demanding higher wages and increased food rations. Many of the strikers, he adds, have been sent to the front.

PRESIDENT SOON TO ASK FOR ADDITIONAL AUTHORITY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—President Wilson has practically decided to appear before Congress prior to adjournment March 4, to ask for additional authority to protect American seamen and ships against the German submarine menace.

While officials said today there was a bare chance that he will not carry out the plan there was every indication that he would make his address either late this week or early next week. His position as outlined authoritatively today is that Congress before adjourning should pass a broad resolution giving him additional authority. He has decided what he will say to Congress but that has not been made public. Officials expect that sooner or later news will be furnished to American ships.

In spite of the statement of the British government that a very small percentage of vessels going to and from the war zone were being sunk by German submarines, officials pointed out today that most American vessels in the transatlantic trade were still held up.

It was emphasized today that when the President appears before Congress he will not do so with the purpose of seeking for a declaration of war. While it is realized that the present element in Congress has some strength, the President is known to believe that the situation is such that when action is needed there will be little division.

The President has decided not to call an extra session of Congress unless there should be an unusual emergency and it was generally accepted today that he will not call the Senate in special session after March 4.

While general reliance on the Austrian situation was observed today it was understood the administration believes the negotiations so far have been unsatisfactory. Ultimately a break is expected unless Austria changes its position.

GERMAN TALKING MACHINE RECORDS CONFISCATED

HALIFAX, Feb. 21.—On the double ground that talking machine records might carry code messages containing valuable information for the military authorities while the material of which they are made might be used to relieve Germany's hard rubber scarcity, a large quantity of such records found in possession of German officials returning from the United States on the Frederick VIII will be confiscated. It was learned here today.

The Germans contended they have been simply for their love of music and the British ruled they constituted contraband.

Dispatches from various sources today added a dozen ships to the list of those sunk as a result of the recent German submarine operations. Most of these were sent to the bottom several days ago. The longest list came from a German source and claimed

LENTEN SEASON
BEGINS TODAY*Ash Wednesday Users in Seven
Weeks' Period of Penitence;
Special Services Planned.

Today is Ash Wednesday, the beginning of Lent, and throughout the period of seven weeks following services commemorating the last days of the Savior on the earth will be held in the Catholic and Episcopal churches.

Masses were held at 6.30 and 8 o'clock and ashes were distributed this morning at the Immaculate Conception Church. At the service this evening ashes will also be distributed for the older members of the congregation who were not present at the morning services.

Throughout the Lenten season services at the Immaculate Conception churches will be held as follows: Masses each morning at 6.30 and 8 o'clock; Sunday and Wednesday evenings, solemn benediction and rosary; Friday evening of each week, stations of the cross.

During the Lenten season there will be the usual cessation of social activities. Easter Sunday, April 8, will mark the closing of Lent.

Rt. Rev. Regis Canavin, Bishop of the Pittsburgh diocese, has issued the following regulations:

All the faithful who have completed their twenty-first year, unless legitimately dispensed, are bound to observe the fast of Lent.

They are allowed only one full meal a day.

The meal allowed on fast days is not to be taken till about noon. A small refreshment, commonly called collation, is allowed in the evening. No general rule as to the quantity of food permitted at this time is or can be made, but the practice of the most regular Christians is never to let it exceed the fourth part of an ordinary meal.

The following persons are exempt from the obligation of fasting: Persons under 21 and persons over 60 years of age; the sick, pregnant women, or those giving food to infants; persons obliged to do hard labor, and all who through weakness cannot fast without great prejudice to their health.

By dispensation the use of flesh meat will be allowed at all meals on Sundays, and once a day on Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, with the exception of the Saturday in Ember week and the last Saturday of Lent. The use of butter, cheese, milk and eggs is also permitted every day in Lent. The use of duck, meat and fish at the same meal on any day even on Sundays, is forbidden.

A series of cottage prayer meetings, one each week, will be held at the homes of the members of the Trinity Episcopal Church. The dates will be announced later.

BLAMES RAILROADSSays They Are Responsible For Present
Scarcity of Food Supplies.

By Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Feb. 21.—President J. P. Griffin of the Chicago Board of Trade today telegraphed to the Interstate Commerce Commission and to the presidents of eastern railroads insisting that unless an immediate embargo were placed on all products eastbound out of Chicago except fuel and foodstuffs, the country will face the danger of anarchy and rioting. In his telegram to the railroads he says:

"Despite all your assurances no relief has been afforded to move grain and other food products out of Chicago."

"The present scarcity of supplies borders on famine and in many communities with the consequent inflation of values is directly chargeable to the failure of the railroads to meet the national emergency."

"I request that instructions be issued by you forthwith prohibiting the movement of any freight at this time except foodstuffs, coal and other commodities necessary to sustain human and animal existence."

"Unless this is done there is great danger of riot and anarchy throughout this land. The present situation is largely caused by railroads giving preference to commodities other than those necessary to maintain life."

"Failure to meet the situation is squarely up to the railroads."

The House adjourned until 9 P. M. Monday.

DEALERS SEE NO

COST OF POTATOES*Highest Price Ever Paid Is Predicted Within a Short Time.*ONE PECK TO A CUSTOMER*One Dealer Conserves His Supply For Largest Number of Patrons by Allowing But One Quarter Bushel To a Person; Over $3 a Bushel Now.

Potatoes will be sold for the highest price in years within a short time, according to the predictions of both wholesalers and retailers of Connellsville, who see no ray of hope in the situation. A serious shortage is bound to occur, they say, and the market will go higher and higher as a consequence. One merchant has already limited his customers to one peck each, fearing that his supply will run out and he will be unable to get more. Wholesalers of town, however, said this was an extreme measure which they believed unwarranted by conditions.

"It will be three months yet before we get any potatoes from the east," one wholesaler said this morning. "Chicago's supply has run out, and the dealers of Wisconsin and Minnesota say that they have few on hand, despite newspaper reports to the contrary. There will certainly be a serious shortage, and prices will be extremely high. The supply will likely come from the mountain districts in this end of Pennsylvania."

An increase of 15 cents a bushel in the wholesale price of potatoes over yesterday was quoted this morning. The retail merchants made no increase this morning, however, the price remaining at 80 cents a bushel and 32.10 or 32.20 a bushel in most of the stores, though a few put the tubers on sale at 32.25 a bushel. The produce dealers are selling them to the merchants now at $8 a bag.

Just now the produce men have potatoes on hand and ordered, and the grocers are in the same position. Later, when the serious shortage comes, there will be nothing to do but pay the price, according to one grocer. The idea of furnishing a customer with but a peck of potatoes when he orders a bushel was characterized as "ridiculous by this man. 'Things are bad enough,' he said, 'but not that bad.'"

Incidentally, inquiry brought out the fact that Connellsville is a potato-eating community. When potatoes are at a normal price, from 1,200 to 1,500 bushels a week are sold here, though just now less than half that quantity of tubers are consumed.

CHICAGO, Feb. 21.—Housewives will have to pay $5 a bushel for potatoes in Chicago in the next few days, according to commission men, who predict that the staple will be selling for $1.25 a peck in 48 hours. New prices are being made in the commission district almost hourly on all kinds of food products.

HEARING RESUMEDLake Cargo Case Again Before Interstate Commerce Commission.

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—Another hearing in the Lake Cargo Case is now in progress before the Interstate Commerce Commission which it is intended will close all the testimony cases.

In addition to the exhibits and testimony being filed by the carriers to combat the claims of the shippers, Juan Paul Muller, the expert rate accountant, who was a witness in behalf of the Connellsville Coal Tariff Association when hearings were had on the intervening petition of that organization last summer, introduced his exhibits and gave testimony showing the necessity for giving the Connellsville coke region the Pittsburgh district rate on lake cargo coal.

The Connellsville Coal Tariff Association is being represented at the hearing by its attorney, C. Andrade, Jr., of New York.

POLICE DISPERSE
WOMEN RIOTERS*Mayor Mitchell Says Committee May Present Plans to Relieve Food Situation.

By Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—Policemen guarding the city hall prevented today another demonstration by East Side women intent upon personally calling to Mayor Mitchell's attention the increased cost of food. About 200 of the women approached the building to find patrolmen checking their progress at every entrance. Reserves went among them informing them that if they dispersed quietly the mayor later would talk with a committee. The women scattered, some of them weeping. Earlier in the day groups of women attempted to gather in an East Side public square, but the policemen forced them to move on. They assembled later, led by Marie Gans, a member of the I. W. O.

Mayor Mitchell before seeing the committee said he was not certain just what the administration could do to relieve the food situation but would be glad to have the women present any plan.

After Mayor Mitchell had been informed by East Side housewives that their children were "starving to death by hundreds" because of the high cost of food, he promised to place before the Board of Estimates on Friday their plea that $1,000,000 be appropriated by the city to buy food for distribution as reasonable prices.

Three different committees representing East Side women were admitted to his office after an attempted demonstration by housewives at the door of the city hall was prevented by the police. The mayor said he did not believe the city had authority to appropriate $1,000,000 for the purpose the women requested, but pending the Board of Estimate's decision he would direct the health and charities department immediately to send inspectors to the East Side to investigate conditions.

The women vigorously urged immediate relief measures. They pointed out that the city has authority to buy food for patients in hospitals and said it had equal power to appropriate to buy food for persons ill for want of nourishment.

CROSS THE YOUGH ON ICE TO FIGHT
WEST NEWTON FIRE

Firemen Risk Lives in Effort to Save B. L. Sampson Flour Mill.

South Connellsville Flouring Mill May Be Taken as Model.

Assistant City Solicitor F. E. Younklin is working on a draft of the proposed curfew ordinance which is to come up at Monday night's council meeting. He plans to call in Dr. Katherine Wakefield and other members of the Woman's Culture club who proposed that a curfew be established here, get their views on the question, and embody them into the ordinance.

The South Connellsville curfew ordinance has been suggested to Mr. Younklin as a model both of effectiveness and brevity. It merely provides that any child 15 years of age or under found on the streets unaccompanied by adults after 9 o'clock may be "arrested by the high constable and fined 50 cents for the first offense and $1 for each offense following that."

LOSS WILL BE $30,000No Other Way to Reach Burning Mill
Firemen Finally Stretch Lines of Hose Over the Ice Covered Stream;

Tramps Believed to Have Caused It.

The B. L. Sampson flour mill, with warehouse and adjacent buildings situated opposite West Newton on the west bank of the Yough river, was totally destroyed by fire which broke out shortly before 6 o'clock this morning, the loss being estimated at $30,000.

There were no facilities for fighting the fire at the mill, and the blaze was unchecked until the West Newton firemen crossed the frozen river with two lines of hose and other apparatus. Their work saved several nearby buildings. The firemen were on the ice, fearing that it would break beneath them, but when they saw the fire raging more and more fiercely, they decided to brave all dangers and get to the scene.

It is supposed that the fire was started by two tramps, who had been noticed about the building on Monday night, and are supposed to have slept last night in a shed where baled hay was stored. It is likely that a match dropped into this hay was the cause of the blaze.

The B. L. Sampson mill has been doing business for 27 years. With Mr. Sampson are associated his two sons, John F. and William Sampson. The Sampsons hold about $75,000 insurance on the three buildings which were destroyed. A large quantity of flour and feed was consumed.

Commissioner's Home Robbed.
County Commissioner Charles H. Nutt's home in Jefferson township, near Grindstone, was robbed last night, the thieves taking foodstuffs, including several hams and sides of bacon, and eight pounds of butter, and leaving untouched money and other valuables.

The West Penn will begin work this week on its contract to install 28 street lights at South Connellsville. At Everson a contract to install 23 street lights has just been completed and the lights may be lighted before the end of the week if some of the globes arrive in time.

The South Connellsville installation may be completed in two weeks. It was stated at the West Penn office today. Six 250 watt tungsten lamps will be placed along Pittsburg street and 22 80-watt lamps will be scattered about through the rest of the town.

Work on the setting of poles will be started today or tomorrow. The last of the material for the rest of the contract was shipped from Pittsburg on Monday and it should be here by the time the itineraries are ready to connect up the lights. A shipment of arms for the lamps was received last week. The temporary lights strung for demonstration purposes will be taken down and replaced by new ones.

At Everson the West Penn has installed three 250-watt lamps, 15 of the 80-watt size and one of the 60-watt type.

Delay in the delivery of globes is holding up the Everson lighting.

A wooden shed near the Western Maryland railroad trestle on the West Side that caused complaint to be made to council by Fire Chief DeBolt, has been removed. Chief DeBolt said it was erected in violation of the city fire limit ordinance.

When the owner of the building was first told to remove it he refused to do so. Later, after the subject had been brought up in council the structure was razed.

FORTUNE RAPS
AT COLL'S DOOR*But Former Connellsville Newspaperman Did Not Respond, Uniontown Paper Says.

Under the head "Hindsight," the Uniontown Herald today prints this account of how Aloysius Coll, former Connellsville newspaperman, had a chance to make a million—and didn't take it:

"About a year ago Aloysius Coll, formerly of Connellsville, now West Virginia correspondent of a Pittsburg newspaper, had a chance to make a million dollars through the investment of but $300. Mrs. Coll was strong for the proposition and offered to go halves with him in the investment. But it looked too big to him and he declined the opportunity."

"Coll is a close friend of Fred W. Bartlett of Mannington. The latter had some oil territory, but was in hard luck. He wanted some ready money to complete a well. In consequence he offered to sell a half interest in the lease to Coll for $300. It was declined. Bartlett got financial aid elsewhere."

"Shortly afterwards his luck took a turn for the better. The first well completed was a tremendous gusher. Others of large productivity have been struck. A half interest in the property has been sold for $750,000 and a million has been refused for the other half."

"Not only this but predictions are made that the pool will be producing for fifty years and Bartlett will be drawing the dividends from it for that length of time if he holds on to it and keeps his health. Coll in the meantime is covering the West Virginia legislature for $35 a week."

SILK MEN ARE HEREA. Mottershead to Have Charge of

The interior of the factory of the Specialty Silk Company being erected on the West Side is about ready for the machinery and the first shipment of this should arrive sometime in March. A. A. Hermann, owner of the mill, and his superintendent, A. Mottershead, who will have charge here, were in town today looking over the factory.

A. Mottershead will open offices here and will remain in the city from now on. He will have full charge of the mill. A hundred or more applications for positions have already been secured and many more are expected.

Superintendent Mottershead expects to get started early in April. Pointing of the inside walls is now in progress. Outside work is just about finished. A boiler in the boiler room has been fired and the plant is heated up.

The Specialty Silk company will employ 300 persons, mostly girls. If this labor is easily secured, and there seems to be a surplus of girls, an addition to the plant will be erected.

PROPOSE LICENSE LAWUniontown May Tax Business Houses
In the City.

A drastic license tax measure is likely to be passed in Uniontown, following its introduction in council last night, providing for the licensing of auctioneers, peddlers, hucksters, solicitors, taxicabs, street cars, amusements, junk dealers and pawn brokers. Council hopes that by putting it into effect the city's finances will be augmented and a premium placed on certain enterprises.

Among those hardest hit are the tax drivers, who would have to pay $10 a year for their first vehicle and $250 for each additional one. Theaters would be taxed $50 a year and circuses $50 per performance; foot peddlers $25 a year or $2 per day; peddlers with one horse, $35 per year or $3 per day; peddlers using more than one horse or other vehicle, $50 per year or $4 per day; hucksters, $20 a year. Other assessments are in proportion.

SOCIAL and PERSONAL

Over 185 couples attended the second annual Washington's birthday reception and dance of the members of Local 472 International Association of Machinists held last night at the armory, a marked feature of the dance being the large number of out of town guests and the unusually attractive decorations, patriotic appointments prevailing. The dance this year completely eclipsed the one of last year and the members of the committee who so untiringly worked towards the success of the affair, are well satisfied with the successful manner in which all the details were carried out. The spacious hall, presented a scene of great beauty. American flags were draped from the arched ceiling, the windows and the balcony, forming a very striking appearance. Suspended from the center of the ceiling in the rear was an immense flag which fell gracefully about a large portrait of George Washington. On each side of the portrait were small flags in colonial design with 13 stars. The machinists had planned to have electric light strings about the portrait and the flag but being unable to secure sufficient wire this feature was abandoned. The lights on the floor were to have been turned off and with only those about the picture burning, the grand march was to have taken place. The decorations were in charge of a Pittsburgh decorator.

The lights throughout the hall were colored, the bulbs being arranged in rotation, making red, white and blue flashes. As the guests arrived the ladies were presented with pink or white carnations as favors. The room received red, white and blue bouquets. The grand march, which was led by Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Vanden took place at 9 o'clock more than 125 couples participating. Music was furnished by Kiefer's orchestra.

The committee in charge was composed of R. M. Vanden, chairman, A. L. Lowe, A. L. Fred, David Randolph, J. W. Kenner, J. T. Friel, G. E. Whitaker, H. T. Robinson, Harry F. Tippman, J. T. Nihand, E. SEASON THEATRE.

"THE DEVIL'S PAY-DAY."—Franklin Farnum and Leah Baird are featured today in the five reel Bluebird drama, "The Devil's Pay-Day." It is a interesting drama of a pleasure-loving young man who wrecks his own life as well as the lives of two young women with whom he is closely associated. Miss Baird has been chosen to play the leading feminine role because of her suitability to the part. She is beautiful, talented and long experienced, and she brings them all to the re, which gives her an opportunity to portray most varied emotions. The play was adapted from the novel titled "The Toll of Vengeance," written by George Hively. There is a splendid lesson in the picture, but it cannot be allowed to interfere with the first purpose—good entertainment. One Curran and Francis Ford are featured in the eighth episode of the thrilling serial, "The Purple Mask." Douglas Gerard appears in the two reel Rex drama, "The Melody of Death." Thursday and Friday Harry D. Walthall will be featured in the eighth part super-feature, "The Taint Soul." It is the story of a gut surgeon who has become addicted to that terrible enemy, "drug." When in his normal condition he is able to perform great feats of surgery at in other ways do good. He fights the enemy of his but in this appalling feature and see if he wins out, "berty" will also be shown Thursday with the great feature.

OPHEUM THEATRE.

"THE ISLAND OF DESIRE."

SYMPTOMS OF HER DISEASE

Backache, Sideache, Nervousness, Dizziness, Faintness, all disappeared after the Woman's Medicine was Taken.

Kingfisher, Okla.—"For two years I suffered with a severe female trouble, was nervous, and backache and pain in my side most of the time. I had dizzy spells and was often so faint I could not walk across the floor. The doctor said I would have to have an operation. A friend asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. After taking ten bottles I am now well and strong, no more pain, backache or dizzy spells. Everyone tells me how well I look and I tell them Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did it."—Miss Nina Sourhwick, R. F. D. No. 4, Box 33, Kingfisher, Okla.

William Fox presents "The Island of Desire," a wonderful tale of love and adventure with that incomparable actor, George Walsh, in the leading role. Jungle hurricanes, volcanic eruptions and terrific earthquakes combine with splendid acting and a gripping story to make this the most thrilling motion picture yet produced. The story of this magnificent feature concerns the adventures of a newspaper reporter, who, together with an Australian adventurer and a Chinese sets forth for a South Pacific island in search of alleged pink pearls. They arrive at the island and find the pearls but a girl, long before shipwrecked on the island, stands in their way. The reporter falls in love with the girl and against the plots of his former partners wins a hard fight for the girl and himself. "Luko's Shadow Ship," a Lonesome Luko comedy, is a funny one and you will like it. Tomorrow the fourth episode of the interesting serial, "Patina," will be the attraction. Also the dainty little screen star, Mary Miles Minter in the Mutual production, "Patina." Don't miss it. Friday Winifred Greenwood appears in "The Voice of Love."

THE PARAMOUNT.

"THE AMERICAN."—A five part Triangle feature in which Douglas Fairbanks makes his latest appearance, and a two reel Keystone comedy are featured today. The American form gives Douglas Fairbanks a full opportunity to display his athletic prowess, the play being fairly saturated with action. Fairbanks goes to Paraguay, a South American country, and arrives while the country is in the throes of a revolution, starts out to discover the former president, who has been shoved out of office by a usurper, rescues the daughter, makes the usurper take to the bushes, rebuffs the legitimate president and incidentally wins the hand of the latter's daughter for a life-mate. He scales walls, climbs trees, whips a whole company of South American soldiers in a subterranean passage and comes up smiling. Tom Wilson, formerly heavyweight pugilist, and at present a comedian and character actor of the Triangle-Fine Arts studios has a prominent role in the support of Douglas Fairbanks. Wilson appears as an American negro, Alma Reuben, who plays opposite Fairbanks, has a part for which she is peculiarly adapted. Miss Reuben is a beautiful young woman with large brown eyes and dark hair and is of the exact type to portray the daughter of the president of the South American countries, where revolutions are a part of every day life. Many of the scenes of the picture were taken with the beautiful buildings and grounds of the San Diego exposition for their setting. Tomorrow Lucille Lee Stewart and William Courtenay will be starred in "The Nineteen and Nine," a five part drama.

FINDING THE ALTITUDE.

How Airmen Measure the Heights to Which They Ascend.
Altimeters or barographs are used by aviators to measure the heights to which they ascend. Both of these instruments are constructed on exactly the same principle as the aneroid barometer. They depend upon air pressure. At sea level, where the air is much compressed by its own weight, the pressure is about fifteen pounds to the square inch, but at greater heights it becomes less. The barometer is governed by the pressure and so indicates the height above sea level. There are many forms of barometers. The simplest is a bent tube of glass, shaped like a very long letter J, and partly filled with mercury. The upper part is closed, and the space above the column of mercury is a vacuum. The lower or hook end of the tube is open and subject to the pressure of the atmosphere. As the pressure becomes less on rising above the surface, the mercury in the long part of the tube falls. The extent of the fall indicates the height. Airplanes use one of these instruments mentioned, which are practically self-registering barometers, and when the airplane comes down the instrument shows how high it has been carried.—Philadelphia Press.

AMERICANS LOST BY U BOAT ATTACKS

Two Hundred Citizens of United States Perished at Sea.

TENSION WITH GERMANY

Crises Have Come and Gone Over Destruction of American Lives Upon the Ocean—Lutetian Brought Up Near War—Crucial Case of the Channel Steamer Sussex.

At least 200 Americans and probably more have gone to their deaths through submarine operations. The first American of whom there is record to lose his life in submarine attack was Leon T. Thresher, a passenger on the British liner Falaba, bound from Liverpool for West Africa, which was torpedoed and sunk March 27, 1916, off Milford, England.

The first American ship attacked was the Guidlight, an oil tanker, from Port Arthur, Tex., for Rouen, France. The next attack was the one that shocked the civilized world and brought the United States and Germany to the first time to the verge of war. It was the destruction of the Lusitania on May 7, 1916. Unarmed, with 1,257 passengers, of whom 150 were Americans, with a crew of 702, she was torpedoed without warning and sank in twenty-three minutes off Old Head of Kinsale as she was nearing Liverpool. In all, 1,103 lives were lost, of which 124 were Americans, many of them men of national prominence.

Twenty American negro musicians on the Leyland liner Arcturion were killed June 28, 1915, by shell fire and drowning when the Arcturion failed to escape with her cargo of army mules from a submarine near the Cornwall coast. The Arcturion was warned and invited her destruction by flight. The American musicians suffered by the action of the British captain.

The Case of the Orduna.
The next submarine attack in which Americans were endangered was unsuccessful, but only because the Cunard liner Orduna was too speedy for her pursuer.

On July 25, 1915, came the first complete destruction of an American ship by a submarine. It was the Leelanaw of New York, bound from Archangel to Belfast with fax, which is contraband. The American sailing ship William P. Frye had been previously sunk in the war, but under different circumstances.

A new crisis and the first suspicion that German submarines were operating in the Mediterranean or that Austrian submarines were being manned by German officers and crews was developed by the destruction of the British liner Persia on Dec. 20, 1915, southeast of Crete while on her way to the orient. American Consul McNeely, on his way to his post at Aden, was among the 325 persons who lost their lives, of which two or more were Americans. The wreck of a torpedo was seen, but no submarine was visible.

The Crucial Sussex Case.
The next great passenger ship destroyed was the Dutch liner Tubantia. While she was in the North Sea, bound for Rio de Janeiro an explosion rent the ship asunder, and she sank. Three Americans were passengers. All persons on board were saved, except one Italian.

On March 24, 1916, came the culmination of a long line of submarine attacks, which caused President Wilson to lay the situation before congress and to notify Germany that unless such methods of warfare were discontinued the United States would break off diplomatic relations. This was the destruction of the French channel steamer Sussex between Folkestone and Dieppe. All the evidence went to prove that the ship was torpedoed without warning, and although Germany at first disclaimed responsibility, the statements which the Berlin foreign office made in its disclaimer went to prove that a submarine destroyed the ship.

Viet of the U-53.
The next development came when Germany carried the submarine war to the American side of the Atlantic. On Saturday, Oct. 7, 1916, the German war submarine U-53 entered Newport harbor unannounced, delivered a package of mail for the German embassy and departed as swiftly as it silently, as she had come. Within forty-eight hours afterward she sank six ships within sight of the American coast—four British, one Dutch and one Norwegian. With the assistance of American destroyers, which witnessed the operations, all lives were saved. In each case the submarine commander gave legal warning and permitted the escape of passengers and crew.

On Oct. 15, 1916, the British merchant ship Rowanmore was attacked by a German submarine. She fled, but was overhauled and destroyed by gunfire. On Oct. 30 the British ship Marlin, bound for the United States, was torpedoed, and six of the fifty Americans on board were lost. Then followed the attack on the American steamer Chemung, the loss of seventeen Americans on the steamer Tuscania and finally, on Jan. 4, a notice that a campaign of ruthlessness was to begin on Feb. 1, irrespective of the consequences.

TRAINED HUMAN RESOURCES AT GOVERNMENT'S DISPOSAL

College Men's War Bureau Receives Indorsement of War and Navy Secretaries.

The plan announced by William McClellan, dean of the Warthon school of the University of Pennsylvania, for the organization of an intercollegiate intelligence bureau to put at the disposal of the government the trained resources of the American college world has received the official indorsement of Secretaries Daniels and Baker. Dean McClellan conferred in Washington with the secretaries.

"Not only did they give the plan their warm indorsement," he said, "but, despite the fact that the State, War and Navy building is closed to visitors, they invited the conference to meet them in the reception room of this building."

"The bureau would place at the disposal of the government in case of war the trained services of the best business, scientific and professional men of the college world. It has met with instant approval from our government officials and the leading college men of the country."

Acceptance of the suggestion for the organization of the bureau have been received from a large number of the leading universities of the country. Most of them not only agreed to participate in the conference, but sent names of their representatives.

MEDOW, A TAX ON CATS!

New York State Senator Introduces Bill Imposing 25 Cents a Head. The combined cat population of the state of New York will now proceed to what its claws for Senator Douglas Robinson.

The senator leaped into the legislative arena the other day with a bill imposing a tax of 25 cents each upon the cats maintained in the state of New York.

With the milk trust raising the price of milk and the state seeking to impose a poll tax upon the tatty tabbies, this is no time in New York to be a cat.

Goose Fat.
Goose fat makes excellent pastry taut is absolutely free from any flavor of the bird or of the nation stuffing. The pastry turns out light and "short" when this sort of fat is used. A Belgian recipe is as follows: Throw all the fat left after drawing the goose into cold water with a little salt as soon as the goose is drawn. When the bird is half done ladle off some of the dripping before it browns or becomes strong and as the roasting proceeds, let it only enough dripping in the pan to baste with. Next day put the dripping, with the fresh fat, in a stewpan, with slices of apple, and onion if approved. Add salt and pepper. When done clear it and strain it into a jar. Cover it and keep it in a cool place.

ONE AND INDIVISIBLE.

In the sermon delivered on Sunday night by Rev. J. L. Proudfoot, of the Presbyterian church, and by Rev. Louis Kovalof, of the Saint Enoch Magyar Roman Catholic church, views and sentiments upon the questions of duty and loyalty to country were presented from rather widely separated points of view.

Speaking as a native-born American, to Americans and for Americans, Rev. Proudfoot created a thrill of patriotic pride in the hearts of his hearers by his definition of "A true patriot" as an American who will defend his nation by fight whenever it is necessary to maintain its honor.

At the same hour Rev. Kovalof, a son of one of the nations of Europe which in certain eventualities may be brought to a state of war with the United States, and speaking to his countrymen, preached an equally stirring sermon on patriotism and loyalty. He urged the unqualified Magyar residents in this country to promptly make application for citizenship that they may thereby show the loyalty to the country which they have chosen as their abiding place.

Taken in conjunction with earlier expressions by local Germans of their loyalty to the United States, the utterances by these two leaders of men in the community differ only in form but not in substance of sincerity, and furnish further proof, if any be needed, that the allegiance of Americans, native and of foreign birth or ancestry, like the union of the states, is one and indivisible.

THE SINCERE BILL.

Representative Sinclair's bill giving aidmen, justices and magistrates jurisdiction in the trial of minor cases, enjoys a distinction rare among the measures introduced at the present session of the Legislature. Of the many proposed new laws this bill is the first and only one to actually provide for any lessening of the taxpayer's burden.

By removing a vast amount of more or less petty legislation from the courts, the Sinclair bill, if it becomes a law, will affect a material reduction in court expenses. It is not likely that it will reduce litigation of this character, but it will relieve the county of the expense of conducting it and place the costs upon the litigants where, according to the principles of justice and common sense, they properly belong.

There is danger, however, that the proposed new law, offering a much more lucrative field for the activities of the minor peace officers, may develop some evils, but means are provided for other laws to correct them.

On the whole the Sinclair bill seems to deserve a place on our statute books, which is vastly more than can be said of the majority of bills which come before the Legislature at its biennial sessions.

TOO MUCH BOOSTING.

Viewed calmly that outbreak of New York women, infuriated by a scarcity of food and high prices, is a significant and also a most serious incident. It emphasizes more than anything yet brought to public notice how vitally the question of living costs affects the life of the people in humbler circumstances.

It reminds us that there has been altogether too much idle and ill-considered comment upon rising prices, while it also reveals the danger there has been in the exploitation, in certain quarters, of advancing prices as an evidence of our prosperity. This has tended to still further advances and all without apparent thought, interest or care of the consequences to those who are made to actually suffer thereby.

There has been too much price boosting and not enough price busting.

The removal of the Huston drug store front reminds us how slowly, yet how certainly and surely, the old order changes. Only the older residents can recall when the installation of "the new plate glass window in Fayette county" conferred a distinction upon this establishment in which there was much local pride for many years, or until a later improvement became the absorbing topic of the time.

General Patton will not be the first volunteer, and National Guard volunteer at that, to attain high rank in the army, despite the bickerings and jealousies of the regulars in the service.

That protest of the Republican Legislature of Pennsylvania in the Democratic Congress against the proposed "excess profits" tax may avail little, and doubtless will, but it serves as notice to the tax hunters in Washington to keep off Pennsylvania's shores.

It is not often that a piece of fire-fighting apparatus also furnishes the means for a demonstration in fighting fire.

No other ward in the city will be jealous of the Second because it will get the first playground. It will simply make the other six hostile livelier to get theirs.

Like the backward sultan Austro-Hungary hesitates to declare its intentions.

When the Women's Culture Club engages in a discussion of "Taxation,"

"The Tariff," "Protection versus Free Trade," and other weighty subjects the inquiry suggests itself. What is there left for mere men to talk about?

The electric steel mill people, like the railroads, would be glad to subsidize the weather man for a few months. The former need his aid to build their houses; the latter to clean their houses.

The Gold Brick Harvest.

From Leslie's.
A new army of promoters and schemers has arisen to grab the money of the credulous and those who, in their eagerness to get rich quickly, greedily seize any bait offered them, provided it is made particularly tempting by the promise of prodigious profits.

I never knew a time before when so many millions of automobiles and real estate schemes were being floated, none of them of a most ridiculous character. The names of successful corporations are being lent to the promoters of some way to the public into the belief that successful men of affairs are interested in these gold-brick propositions.

The panic rise in the prices of many staple articles of common consumption has caused some new concern that have entered these profitable fields to succeed, but when the inevitable lean year comes there will be no profit to suffer and go down, for abnormal profits will disappear and the financial only will survive.

An Impending Crisis.

Hyperbolic reputation.
If waterkraft and kettles go much higher we will be obliged to raise the subscription price of The Courier. We refer to the price of the paper, not the price of the waterkraft and kettles. We begin to think it is time to demand more for the product of our brain and printing press.

CHINESE METHODS.

In China, they do business sanely; their real estate is the best kept in the land. The Chinese, when he is in good condition, pays money to his learned physician. While in his hands no money is taken, the doctor draws his monthly wages, but just as soon as he feels ready, he looks the physician, promptly and speedily, and says, "I have the money and your wages stop till I get better." Oh, then that grand old man of learning gets busy, for his patient is dying. He sends the patient with his bitter and acerbic demon, prescribes a string of helpful rationales, and springs a lot of incantations. "You see that secretary of war, whose patients' health is in his hands, will break his martingale, trying to keep the invalid from dying, but in this business land of freedom, we don't pay the doctors till we need 'em. And as the doctor is not inclined to enter our system, promptly elected, the doctor's beds we're sticking, the better is the doctor's picking. Of course it fills his soul with worry, if we get better in a hurry."

SHORT HAND.

Short hand is a form of sign writing which consists of taking down other people's remarks and then guessing at what they said.

The short hand writer is one of the most valuable adjuncts of the business world, and which he is given plenty of time can make sense of almost anything that is thrown to him. It is a fascinating sight to see a nimble, hood-faced court reporter taking down testimony of a witness with a machine gun delivery, only pausing now and then to scribble a few words on a slip of paper to spell some simple word. It requires more ability to become an expert short hand reporter than it does to be a secretary of war.

The demand for short hand writers has caused several thousands of earnest business colleges to spring up, which shed large herds of ambitious stenographers every three months. These stenographers are then hired to sit in front of a mahogany desk and absorb the mental output of a business man who uses long, six-syllable words whether they fit or not. After a deluge of stenographic shorthand, the stenographer has straightened out the grammar, spelling, rhyme and reason of a bunch of letters dictated by an employer who has a surplus of words and a deficit of thought, and he will be too tired to tackle the roller skating rink or anything else except a hair mattress.

The Ancient Egyptians were the first people to use short hand with any success, but they used a plain marble slab in place of the ruled note book. Short hand is a poor substitute for round hand, in making love by mail, the best medium being the typewriter with substituting type bars.

It requires more ability to become an expert short hand reporter than it does to be a secretary of war.

ECONOMIES EXCEPTIONAL

The economical man, the economical woman, or the person who does the buying for the family, who wants to save money in most any line of goods mentioned, should patronize a Union Supply Company store. Economy is one way to make money, and the exceptional economy opportunities that the Union Supply stores are offering is the inducement we have to attract you. Take any department in our big stores—start at clothing for men, women and children; shoes for men, women, and children; hats and caps; throughout the dry goods and notion departments, which include the hosiery and underwear lines; take the furniture department; the housefurnishing department; the hardware department; the drug department; the grocery, produce and provision departments—we claim that in every one we are offering prices today lower than any legitimate competition in the trade. Most anybody can make a statement in a newspaper, and sometimes boast, and say things they cannot substantiate. If you put us in that class, we respectfully ask you to visit one of our stores; investigate, see for yourself; talk to the many thousands of people who are customers and see if they will not assist us in establishing every statement in this advertisement beyond any doubt. Our prices are lower in every department than any legitimate competition.

We particularly want to call attention of men now to the approaching Easter Season and the importance of ordering their Easter clothes early. You understand in two-thirds of our stores we have fine ready-made clothing departments; in all of our stores we have clothing sample books, which are practically merchant tailoring departments. It takes from two to three weeks to get your suit made. Bear this in mind when figuring on your Easter suit. It is a money saving opportunity for you, purchasing a suit for yourself or your boys at our clothing departments.

Salts if Backache and Kidneys Hurt

Stop Eating Meat for a while if Your Bladder is Troubling You.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and lorry. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach hurts, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to cleanse and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.—Adv.

IN FIVE MINUTES NO SICK STOMACH INDIGESTION, GAS

"Pape's Diaprepain" is the Quickest and Surest Stomach Relief.

You don't know what upset your stomach—which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; if sick, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented and turned sour; head dizzy and aches; belch gases and acids and eructate indigestible food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Pape's Diaprepain to neutralize acidity and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have dyspepsia. A little Diaprepain occasionally keeps the stomach sweetened, and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless antacid is Pape's Diaprepain which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it stops food souring and sets things straight, so gently and easily, that it is really astonishing. Your stomach will digest your meals if you keep acids neutralized.—Adv.

Resinol Surely Heals Sick Skins

When you know physicians have prescribed Resinol for over 20 years in the treatment of eczema and other itching, burning, scaly skin and other troubles, and have written thousands of reports saying: "It is my regular prescription for itching." When Resinol Ointment touches itching skin, the itching usually stops and healing begins. With the aid of Resinol Soap, it almost always clears away eczema, ringworm, pimples, or other disfiguring eruptions quickly, leaving the skin clear and healthy. Sold by all druggists.

Facts Versus Fallacies

FACT is a real state of things. FALLACY is an apparently genuine but really illogical statement or argument.

WASHINGTON State became officially "dry" on January 1, 1916, and Prohibition FALLACY, coupled with how such law falls there, is convincingly described in the "Seattle Star" (a Prohibition paper) under glaring headlines like these: "Drunkennes Increases in Seattle Under 'Dry' Reign." "Mayor Gill Removes Police Chief Lang, Who Fails to Check Evil." "Sixty-five New Drug Stores Replace Saloons." "Air-tight Liquor Law doesn't Check Influx of 'Wet' Goods."

THEN this same leading daily paper of Seattle made confession of Prohibition failure in Washington State with declarations as follows:

"ANTI-LIQUOR law in operation has proven inadequate to stem the ever-increasing flow of spirituous beverages. 'NOT only did drunkenness increase (in March) over the previous month, but it exceeded the two previous months and more than double the February record. 'THE squad of tipplers who found their way into the Police Station during March numbered 284. During February the number was 117, and during January 84. 'RECORDS in the Auditor's office at the Court House show that in January 1917 permits to ship liquor into the State were issued, in February the number increased to 4288, and in March to 6250."

COMMENTING upon the deplorable situation under Prohibition law in the City of Seattle the new Chief of Police, Charles L. Beckingham, stated:

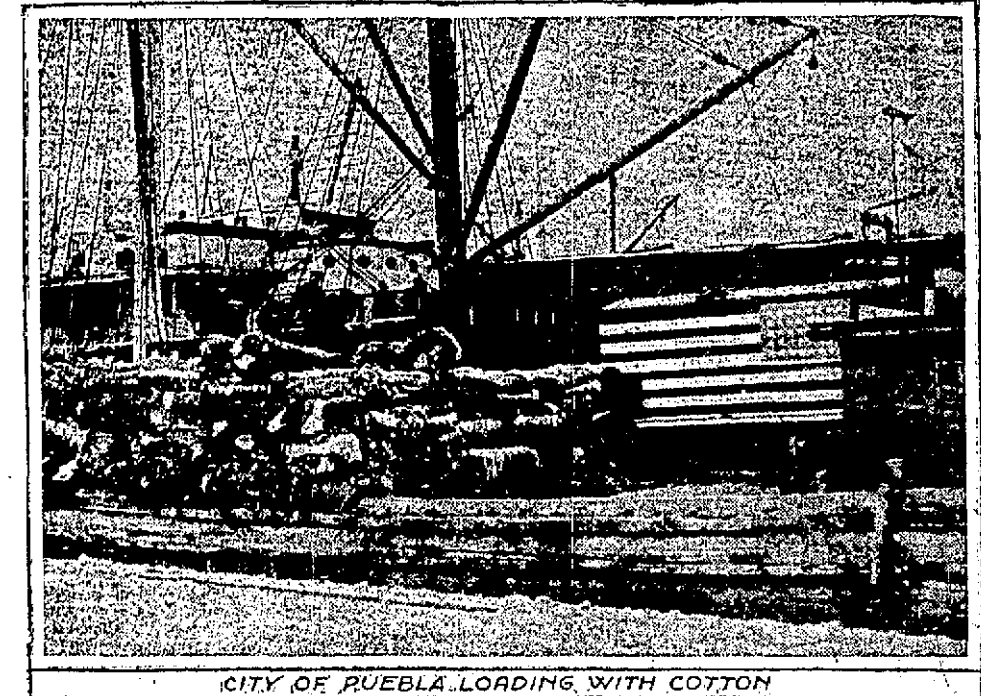

"THE one thing I think the Police Department ought to do is to stop bootlegging in Seattle. Every man, woman and child in the city knows that it is a simple matter to get liquor. I think something can surely be done by the Police Department to stop the illegal trade. The drug stores ought not to get away with the stuff they are now peddling."

TO SUM up, the State of Washington, which was voted "dry" by 18,000 majority, is now suffering the same sorry experience of other States that followed the delusion of Prohibition FALLACY. The FACTS of increasing drunkenness and crime in Washington have already called forth petitions in that State for a return to the licensed and regulated system of dispensing alcoholic beverages.

CHILD GETS SICK CROSS, FEVERISH IF CONSTIPATED

"California Syrup of Figs" Can't Harm Tender Stomach or Bowels.

A laxative today saves a sick child tomorrow. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, which become clogged up with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sour.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, or your child is listless, cross, feverish, breath bad, restless, doesn't eat heartily, full of cold or has sore throat or any other children's ailment, give a teaspoonful of California Syrup of Figs; then don't worry, because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few hours all this constipation poison, sour bile and fermenting waste will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. A thorough "inside cleansing" is oftentimes all that is necessary. It should be the first treatment given in any sickness.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

Remember the Others!

There's an obligation that goes with party-line telephone service—an obligation shared by all persons on the line, an obligation which each owes to the others.

Inordinarily long conversations are but the result of thoughtlessness, to be sure; but frequently they cause annoyance and even grave distress. Some other person on the line may be trying to call a doctor or make some similarly urgent call. Perhaps, too, there's a most important message, incoming, for someone on the line—perhaps even for the person who is "holding things up."

There's much in this thought for every party-line user. Think it over! The obligation is one that will appeal to all who give consideration to it.

A WORD TO THE WISE

You all know there exists a great shortage in the paper supply. Newspapers have suspended publication; wrapping paper has gone up from 3c to 10c the pound. Wall Paper has gone up in proportion, and is very hard to get from the factories at any price.

Whether this is through manipulation or an actual shortage of raw stock, I cannot say, but the conditions are an actual fact, and all wall rags. Last July I saw this condition paper stores are facing this also coming, and through advice of people who knew the inside facts, I 0 rolls of paper at a very slight advance in advance for 75,00 vance over last year's prices. Now, I could be a hog, and hold tight for the four increases in price that have taken place since last July, but I do not intend to do so. I could sell the entire order back to the factory at a profit of $1,000.00. Instead, I am offering this paper to you at a very reasonable profit, believing that my customers are entitled to it, and trusting you may appreciate it in the future. My prices are less than other dealers are paying for their paper. I have refused to enter any combination to raise the price. You will get more than a square deal by giving me your patronage. Look over my line. I can sell you papers for kitchen, bedrooms &c. at 5c the bolt; beautiful papers for bedrooms and general living rooms at 6c, 7 1-2c and 10c the bolt. Papers for your very best rooms at 12c, 12 1-2c, and 20c the bolt. Plain color genuine oatmeal papers at 15c the bolt.

MILITARY WORK FOR BALL PLAYERS

American League Favors Training For Its Players.

JOHNSON APPROVES PLAN

National League Criticized For Not Taking Same Action—Head of Younger Organization Firm in Refusal to Recognize Players' Fraternity.

There is one thing that the American league will go after—military training for the players at the various training camps. The league members are anxious to show that baseball people are patriotic and that the players are perfectly willing to do as much as anybody else toward upholding the arms of President Wilson in case of trouble.

"I think this plan suggested by Captain Heston one of the biggest ideas that have ever been proposed in the way of demonstrating baseball's attitude toward the public war," said Ben Johnson. "I will advocate its adoption, and I have reason to believe that the club-owners will agree with me. I mean what I said the other day when I announced that the American league would not stand in the way of any man who wanted to join the colors and that it would look out and care for his dependents during his service in the army. Especially I am past the age for enlistment, but anything that I can do to help along will be gladly done. It has been suggested to me that I might be of aid in the quartermaster's department, and I am ready if wanted."

It is pretty well known that the American league will take no further action looking toward a change in the plans for the world's series. At its last meeting it decided that at the games played on American league grounds the prices would be exactly double what they are for regular games, and no more. For instance, twenty-five cent seats will sell for 50 cents, fifty cent seats for $1 and seventy-five cent seats for $1.50.

"That was definitely ruled upon by our league," says Mr. Johnson. "and the plan will be carried out to the letter. We also believe in the principle of 'to the victor belong the spoils,' and the receipts for the players will be divided upon that basis."

It was a matter for much comment that the National league, after talking all winter about changes, finally adjourned without so much as a word on the subject. The National league also came in for some rather unpleasant criticism for not taking up the matter of military training for the players.

"So far as we are concerned," said Mr. Johnson, "the players' fraternity does not exist. It passed our recognition when Mr. Fultz attempted to dictate matters that were not within his jurisdiction and when he ordered a strike after admitting that there was no complaint against his major league. We will not even discuss the matter, and if Mr. Fultz seeks an interview with me, as I have been told that he may, I will not see him. We are through with the fraternity and Mr. Fultz forever."

This remark by the American league president was suggested by a question that was asked him as to his opinion of the action of the National league in agreeing not to discriminate against players who had been on strike.

"We have never discriminated against any players," he said, "and we will not. We will treat them individually as we always have, and all know that that is fair."

PLAYED FOR HALF DOZEN MANAGERS IN EIGHT YEARS

Dick Hobitzel comes close to having a record in the number of managers he has worked under in eight years. Hobitzel has been directed by six baseball players in that time, five of them being leaders of the Red Sox.

He began under John Gansel in 1908, saw Clark Griffith supersede Gansel, watched Henry O'Day take the reins from Griffith, observed Tinker take up where O'Day left off and then saw part of Charles L. Herrick's stormy administration. Then Hobitzel went to a team that won the world championship.

GIBBONS TOO CHARITABLE.

Letting Inferior Foes Stay Limit No Way to Earn Popularity

Mike Gibbons as a boxer ranks with the greatest the ring has ever known. As a fighter Mike isn't there, because there is too much charity in his soul. He is over feeling for the other fellow. Mike knows that there are few who compare with him in the point of boxing skill, although he never does talk about his greatness. It is the knowledge, however, that causes him to extend the hand of sympathy to so many of his opponents and brings him with in the pale of criticism.

After the fight with Young Ahearn in St. Paul, which Mike won by a knockout in the first round, the story goes, and is told by his present manager, Eddie Kane, of how downcast he was after it was over. He acted the loser after the bout. The joy which usually seizes a winner escaped him.

"What's the matter Mike?" inquired a friend. "Why so blue? You ought to be happy after doing what you did to Ahearn."

"I'm not a bit happy," returned Mike. "I'm sorry, very sorry, that I knocked that boy out. That ends his career. He'll not be able to make very much money now. Had he stayed the ten rounds he could have gone along and been a good card and earned lots of money."

Mike has thought too much about the future of his opponents in his contests and has suffered by criticism as a result. "Today he is better than he ever was in his life and if he would but go into every fight determined to win as quickly as possible he would soon enjoy the popularity that should be his."

Mike Gibbons faced the stuffing out of Young Grob in a six round bout in Philadelphia recently. Grob has now the honor of boxing a six round no decision contest with the wizard of St. Paul. It'll earn him a lot of money. He'll not get Michael Gibbons a blooming thing.

TWO STAR PITCHERS WILL TRY TO COME BACK

Two comeback attempts of more than passing interest are scheduled for the coming campaign. Guy Morton, who was commonly supposed to have put his pitching arm permanently out of business after winning ten straight games last spring and George Foster of the Red Sox, who announced his retirement from baseball just before the 1916 world's series, both declare that they are in splendid condition again and that they will be "there" next summer, practically as good as ever.

Penn Obtains New Star Athlete.
Lowell Gilmer has forsaken the University of Illinois and has entered Pennsylvania. Gilmer is an athlete of no mean ability. In the conference championships last spring he finished second in both sprints. He has been credited with ten seconds for 100 yards and twenty-two seconds for the four hundred. Gilmer will not be eligible to represent Penn until February, 1918.

No one ever honestly follows what light he has without finding that the light increases as he goes forward.

SOME SPICY SPORT CHATS

Times Have Changed Since McGraw Was Ball Player.

NO BIG SALARIES THEN

Incidentally the Magnates Did Not Take in Fortunes at the Gate—Peoria a New Poughkeepsie For Rowing. Some Plucky Sports.

John McGraw, armed with reminiscences of an earlier day in baseball championships the cause of the poor, down trodden magnate as against the grasp for money and power.

John points his remarks with the statement—the novelty of it—that the baseball player is "vastly overpaid." To prove this he cites that in the days of good players—to wit when he himself was in his prime—the highest paid man on the Baltimore club was Catcher Robinson, $2,500, and that he (McGraw) received only $1,500. He adds that the entire club salary in those days was not much over $35,000 or less than the combined pay of Tris Speaker and Ty Cobb.

Without championing the Fraternity's star, we may remark in passing that in purchasing power the $2,500 of twenty-five years ago would be worth about $5,000 today. Grand stands did not seat from 25,000 to 40,000 or one third of that in those times nor was there any world's series, with prices four times as high.

Grand stand seats were 50 cents instead of from 75 cents to $1.25 and it was not the fashion to surround 500 twenty-five cent seats by 30,000 high priced ones. The magnate did not take in the money in those days to pay modern salaries.

If the proposed western rowing conference ever carries out the plan of establishing an intercollegiate rowing course on the Mississippi it will have its troubles finding one with a three or four mile straightaway. Varying currents, shifting sand bars and unequal or uncertain stages of water make this stream one of the poorest in the country for such an event.

Doubtless there are suitable stretches of water in the great length of this stream, but they are at points poorly adapted for observation purposes.

Peoria, on the Illinois river, has a much better river course than could probably be found on the Mississippi. The National and Central association regattas have been held there with satisfaction to all concerned.

Peoria, too, is after the central states regatta this year. The city is certainly full of enthusiasm.

Every now and then some Captain Scott immortalizes his in fortune by a stupendous exhibition of courage. The sporting world has developed many such a few of whom may be mentioned as follows:

Joe Jeannette, the colored heavyweight, after being knocked down more than twenty times in the first thirty rounds of his fight with Sam McVey won the bout after forty-nine rounds of fighting.

Fred Hartman with frozen feet and a weakened leg team killed the 500 mile race, collapsing at the finish.

Tommy West won a fight after his opponent had blinded him and after forcing his second to slit the swollen and bruised spots with a knife between rounds thus enabling him to see.

Fred Deere and Mike Christ wrestled five hours, during which spectators went to supper and returned, the former winning when his opponent could no longer lift his arms.

But those feats are mere trifles compared to the stunts of D. O. Public who after being assaulted and out raged by every sporting promoter in the country comes right back with the price of admission in his mighty right hand and butters his way to the ring side.

There's only one gamer person than D. O. Public. He's the guy who after twenty years' absence from the ice takes his wife to the rink and tries to teach her how to skate the first time out. He's a hero.

IMPORTANT GOLF CHANGE.

Play For Open Title Shortened—Tournament at Brae Burn June 27-29.

The condition of play for the open golf championship as recommended by the executive committee of the United States Golf Association has been adopted by the Professional Golfers' Association of America and is as follows:

First day the whole field play eighteen holes medal play second day, the same, third day sixty four best scores and the thirty six holes medal play, the winner to be the one making the lowest score for the seventy two holes played.

This shortens the tournament by one day and eliminates the old condition of splitting the field and playing two days' qualifying rounds. The date of the open championship is June 27-29 inclusive, and it will be held at the Brae Burn Country Club Massachusetts.

Three Mile Course Pleases Coast Crews

News that the vicarage of the Poughkeepsie (N. Y.) regatta had reduced the distance of the vicarage race to three miles was received with glee at the University of Washington, Stanford and California. The coast crews row three miles in their annual regatta.

The added mile on the Hudson made things all the more difficult for Washington and Stanford when they came east.

ESKIMO ICE CREAM.

It's a Fine Dish, No Doubt, but Your Guests Might Not Like It.

The main food of the Alaskan Indian is meat and fish. In the winter many people do not cook the fish at all, simply leave them in the house for two or three days and then eat them raw. Women always serve the food and always see that others are satisfied before beginning their own meal. They have to be very careful not to spill anything, for that would bring bad luck to the one whom they are serving.

When a person is invited to eat in the village it is considered bad manners to eat all that is before him. He must leave enough to take home to the members of the family who did not come. The host generally gives his guest a piece of dried fish to hold the food which he is to take home. The fish is broad and flat, about one-half inch thick and the bundle is carried away openly without any attempt at hiding it. In the summer berries, fruit and roots are added to the diet, and berries are frozen in the fall to last through the winter.

Since white people came flour and canned goods have changed the food very much. It is easy to have ice cream for dessert any time. There is no cream about it, but tallow and berries are mixed with snow, sometimes fish is added to it, and when it is frozen it makes a fine dish—Southern Workman.

WHY NOT BE CHEERFUL?

It Will Help You to Increase Your Mental and Physical Power.

Good cheer is a great lubricant. It oils all of life's machinery. Good cheer is a great producer. It adds wonderfully to one's active ability and increases mental and physical power. It makes hosts of friends and helps us to be interesting and agreeable.

Good cheer will attract more customers and more goods, do more business with less wear and tear than almost any other quality.

Optimism is the greatest business getter, biggest trader, truest achiever, in the world.

Pessimism has never done anything but tear down and destroy what optimism has built up.

In the business office in society, in politics in workshops, everywhere, the favorite is always the cheerful fellow with the bright smile and bright thoughts.

Good natured, cheerful ones do not waste their vital energies as rapidly as the grumblers or the too sober, too sour ones do. They work and live with much less friction.

Good cheer is a simple habit. It is one of the best in all the list—Christian Herald.

Averting a Defeat.

A certain political boss always controlled his delegations to the conventions, and the delegates voted the way he told them to—and not until he did tell them.

At one convention a delegate presented a resolution that the boss favored, but had not heard about soon enough to post his delegates as to how they should vote on it.

The chairman of the convention put the question "All in favor of this resolution say 'aye'."

There were a few ayes and the boss' delegates looked at him inquiringly. Seeing that he would not have time to pass the word and wanting the resolution passed, he dashed down the aisle toward the chairman, waving his hands and shouting:

"Don't put the negative! Don't put the negative! I did that once and got in a deuce of a fix!"—Saturday Evening

True Secret of Keeping Youthful Looking

(The Beauty Secret)
"The real secret of keeping young-looking and beautiful," says a well-known hygienist, "is to keep the liver and bowels normally active. Without these regular, poisonous waste products remain in the system, polluting the blood and lodging in various organs, the face becomes sallow, the complexion nervous, mentally sluggish, dull-eyed, wrinkled and yellow of face."
But to get liver and bowels working as they ought, without producing any after-effects has been the problem. Fortunately, there is a prescription of unquestioned merit, which may now be had in convenient tablet form. Its value is due largely to an ingredient derived from the humble May apple, or its root, and its use is followed by no undesirable or untoward effects. On the contrary, these harmless vegetable tablets tend to impart tone and elasticity to the system, and, in addition, banish biliousness, which may be present from any cause. No, I shall help! Longoria beamed enthusiastically. "It shall be the object of my life to serve you and you shall return with me to the state of my government." He rose to his feet but his knees soon gave place to disappointment.

"Thank you," said Alaire, "but I must first go to La Perla and get all my facts."

"Senor! It is a wretched journey! There is no food; you will have no one to wait upon you. In my company you will be safe. Upon my honor, you will enjoy the highest courtesy."

"Of course. But I must go on. I have Dolores and Jose to look after."

Alaire indicated Sanchez who had edged his way very close and now stood with shining eyes fixed upon his feet.

"Jose, my general," Jose exclaimed eagerly, "am here."

Longoria winked at the horse-breaker critically. "Our name is—"

"Jose Sanchez."

"You look like a brave fellow."

Jose smiled at this praise and no doubt would have made suitable answer, but his eyes were held out by the hand and General Longoria bent over, raising it to his lips. He called one of his subordinates closer and ordered that a lieutenant and six soldiers be attached to act as an escort to Jose, Alaire's party. "Senor, the hours will drag until I may see you again and be of further service. Mean while I shall be tortured with radiant dreams. Go with God!" For a second time he bowed and kissed the hand he held, then talking Jose Sanchez into the hands of the six men he turned to the door.

Dolores collapsed into her seat with an exclamation. "Carabina! The man is a demon!" And such was the cry.

Dolores was interrupted by Longoria's voice beneath the open window. "The general would, my dear, hold me up to Alaire a solitary willow tree which he had plucked beside the track."

"See," he cried, "it is the color of your adorable eyes—blue like the sapphirine gem." He placed the delicate bloom in Alaire's fingers and was gone.

"Caldado!" breathed Dolores. "There is blood right! The blood of innocents! He will burn for a million years in hell that man!"

Jose Sanchez came plowing into Alaire's car, tremendously excited. "Look, senor!" he cried. "Look what the general gave me!" and he proudly displayed Longoria's service revolver.

Around Jose's waist was the cartridge belt and holster. "With his own hands he buckled it about me and he said, 'Jose, something tells me you are a devil for bravado. Give me your pistol with your life! For if any mishap befalls me I shall cut out your heart with my own hands.' Those were his very words, senor. Carabina! There is a man to die for!"

Not was this the last of Longoria's dramatic surprises. Shortly after the train had got under way the lieutenant in command of Alaire's guard brought her a small package, saying:

"The general commanded me to hand you this, with his deepest regard."

Alaire accepted the object curiously. It was small and heavy and wrapped in several layers torn from a notebook, and it proved to be nothing less than the splendid diamond and ruby ring he had admired.

"God protect us, now!" murmured Dolores, crossing herself devoutly.

CHAPTER VI.

Blaze Jones and His Neighbors.

Blaze Jones rode up to his front gate and dismounted in the shade of the big oaks.

He stepped back and ran an approving eye over another neighbor's property. Of course the youths of his day were anything like the youths of his own, and yet—Blaze felt his gaze linger fondly on the highbred mare and her equipment—here at least was a person who knew a good horse, a good saddle and a good gun.

As he came up the walk he heard Paloma laugh and his own face lightened for his daughter's merriment was contagious. Then he mounted the steps and turned the corner of the "kitchen" he uttered a hearty greeting.

"Dave! Law! Where in the world did you drop from?"

He unrolled himself and took the ranchman's hand. "Hello, Blaze. I been ordered down here to keep you straight."

"Thank you. Now who's been giving you orders Dave?"

"Why I'm with the Rangers."

"Never knew a word of it. Last I heard you was still bustling around with the Mexicans."

Blaze sent himself with a grateful sigh where the breeze played over him. It was a big, bearded, swarthy man with the square-jawed deep lined face of a tragedian and a head of long curly hair, which he wore parted in a line over his left ear.

Character a local landowner. This part of Texas had grown up with Blaze, and he possessed a splendid indifference to the artificial dyes of dress and manners. He was plainly an outdoor man.

"So you're a Ranger and got notches in your gun?" Blaze rolled and lit a cigar, scarcely larger than a sheet of paper. "Well, you'd ought to make a right able this rancher. I've only for your size—you're too long for a man and you ain't long enough for a snake. Still, I reckon a thief would have trouble getting out of your grasp, and once you got close to him—how many men have you killed?"

"Counting Mr. Clean?" Law inquired with a smile.

"Nobody counts them."

"Not many."

"That's good. Blaze nodded and rolled his cigarette, which he had permitted himself to smolder out. The force didn't want it. Most of the boys nowadays join so they can ride a horse, smoke a pack of cigars, and give coin to the pretensions of a vicious ancestry. They had caught most of 'em."

"There aren't many," said Paloma. "Dave tells me the whole force has been cut down to sixteen."

"That's plenty," her father averred. "It's like when Cap'n Bill McDonald went to stop a riot in Dallas. He came to town alone and when the riot was asked him where his men was, he said 'Alone I caught? There's only one riot. Are you working up a case, Dave?"

"Gin me—yes! People are minding a lot of stock hereabouts."

"It's these blamed refugees from the war. A Mexican has to steal something or he gets run down and port. If it ain't that it's something else."

Dave Law's duties as a Ranger extended lightly upon him, his instructions were vague and he had a leisurely method of "working up" his evidence. Since he knew that Blaze possessed a thorough knowledge of this section and its people, it was partly business which had brought him to the Jones home this afternoon.

Strictly speaking, Blaze was not a ranchman, and he speculated heavily in raw lands and for several years past he had devoted his energies to a gentle colonization scheme. It was by no means a small operation in which he was engaged. The venture had taken foresight, courage, infinite hard work; Blaze was burdened with responsibilities that would have broken down a man of weaker fiber.

But his rest relaxation was reminiscent. His own experience had been wide, he knew everybody in his part of the state, and although he was in his thirties, he was sometimes colored by his rich imagination, the information he could give was often of the great value—was Dave Law knew.

After a time the latter said casually: "Tell me something about Ted Lewis."

Blaze looked up quickly. "What do you want to know?"

"Anything—everything."

"Ted owns a right nice ranch between here and Las Palmas. Blaze said cautiously.

Paloma broke out impatiently. "Why don't you say what you think?"

Blaze said slowly. "Ted Lewis is a bad neighbor and always has been. There's a feud on his place, and we think he knows more about 'hot' cattle than he cares to tell."

"It's a good place to grow stock, at low water," he father agreed. "and Lewis land runs back to the Rio Grande in its old Spanish form. It's a natural outlet for those brush country ranches. But I haven't anything against Ted, except a natural dislike. He stands out with some of our best people so I'm probably wrong. I usually am."

"You can't call Ted Austin one of our best people," sharply objected Paloma. "They claim that arms are being smuggled across to the rebels. Dave said it's true. Ted Austin!"

"Now, Paloma," her father remonstrated mildly. "The regulars and the river guards watched Lewis' ranch till the embargo was lifted and they never saw anything."

rattle, and if he runs arms it's because he's a Mexican, you know." When Dolores drew near, both Jones and his daughter urged their guest to stay and dine with them and Dave was glad to accept.

"After supper I'm going to show you our town," Blaze declared. "It's the finest in south Texas, and growing like a weed. All we need is good farmers. Those we've got are mostly back to nature students who leaped a drug counter expecting to light in the lap of luxury. In the last outfit we sold there was a three man that knew which end of a mule to put the collar on. But they'll learn. Nature will 'em and so will I. God supplies 'em with all the fresh air and sunshine they need and when they want any thing else they come to Old Blaze. Ain't that right Paloma?"

"Yes, father."

Paloma Jones had developed wonderfully since Dave Law had last seen her. She had grown into a most wholesome and attractive young woman with an honest, humorous path of down eyes. During dinner she did her part with a grace that made watching her a pleasure, and the Ranger found it a great treat to sit at her table after his strenuous scouting days in the mesquite.

"I'm glad to hear Townsville is prosperous," he told his host. "And they say you're in everything."

"That's right, and prosperity's on the march."

enthusiasm. He pointed out the Odd Fellows hall, the Palace Picture theater with its glaring orange lights and discordant electric piano he conducted Law to the First National bank, of which Blaze was a proud and somewhat ornamental director, then to the sugar mill, the ice plant and other points of equally novel interest.

Everywhere he went Jones was hailed by friends for everybody seemed to know him and to want to shake his hand.

"Some towns and some body of men," he inquired, finally, and Dave agreed.

"Yes. She's got a grand framework. Blaze. She'll be most as big as 'fort Worth when you fatten her up."

Jones waved his buggy whip in a wide circle that took in the miles of level prairie on all sides. "We've got the whole blamed state to grow in. And Dave, I haven't got an enemy in the place." It wasn't many years ago that certain people allowed Dave never live to raise this town. Why it used to be that nobody dared ride with 'em except Paloma, and she used to sleep with a shot-gun at her bedside.

"But sure have been a responsibility to her."

But I'm as safe now as if I was in church."

Law ventured to remark that none of Blaze's enemies had grown fat in prosecuting their feud, but this was a subject which the elder man invariably found embarrassing and now he said:

"I know. I never was the blood letter people think I'm as gentle as a sheep. Then to escape further curiosity on that point he suggested that they round out their riotous evening with a game of pool."

The next morning at breakfast Paloma announced that her father must help Dave hunt down these cattle thieves.

"Aint that sort of a big order?" Blaze queried.

"Perhaps but you're the very man to do it. Ricardo Guzman is the only person who knows the Lewis gang as well as you do."

Jones shook his head doubtfully. "Don Ricardo has been working up his own private feud with that outfit. It was the kind that was looking for a fight. I wouldn't have paid freight on myself from the Panhandle down here. I could have got one right at home any morning before breakfast."

"Ricardo Guzman is something of a black sheep himself. Law spoke up.

"Palma! He's all right. I reckon he's changed a few brands in his time, but he's a good body now. What's his story?"

"If a woman kills him he never stole anything, he

Smith Matthews, one of the strongest players for the coke town quintet, had his nose broken at the beginning of the second half. While charging down the floor he collided with his brother, R. Matthews. His nose was broken by the impact. R. Matthews escaped unhurt.

O'Laughlin, another strong door man for Mount Braddock, was put out of the game by referee Wall for slugging. He was not permitted to return.

Honsberger was the heavy scorer for the Maccabees. In the first half he kept the Cokers from walking away with the game by his consistent foul shooting. He got 11 out of 17 in the first period. The period ended 27-14. The score:
